Thurman and Young are both Utah Thurman and Young are both Utah boys, who have been brought up in this territory and have given the best years of their lives to its development. Thomas Maloney comes from Tennessee and has made a good reputation at the bar since he has been here. Without being unfair he recards with disfavor any encroachments of corporations and would resist such things. All three men have unassuilable records. Not one has a taint upon his character. All three are men of good legal ability, fitted to be judges. What is more they are all three popular and will make remarkable runs.

Taken all together, each name contained.

Taken all together, each name con-sidered and compared with the name of the opposing candidate, the Demo-cratic ticket is far stronger than the Republican ticket.

"So you think it's an easy ticket to beat do you. Well I don't. I've been in politics for a long time in this territory and I think if the Democratic had stayed in session for three weeks they couldn't have made a stronger ticket. As a vote catcher I don't think a ticket will ever be put up in this territory that will excel it. Why don't you see there are four candidates from the north, four from the south and four from the centre, just as there should be. They are distributed well too. They catch just the right counties. They catch just the right countles. We're going to win, of course, but we've got a fight on hand."

Caine is Strong.

"They are the right kind of men too. I've heard men talking today about John T. Caine being a weak man. Now don't you count on anything of that kind or we will make a mistake. The people know t. and know he will make a good, sate governor. He is known in every little hamlet in this territory. The Lonely Bicyclist.

Lonely wayfarers on the back streets Lonely wayfarers on the back streets of our city and in quiet country lanes after dark, need not be surprised to see a lonely wheelman, as mysterious as the famous Flying Dutchman, run by them swiftly, his head bowed down, his hat pulled over his eyes, seeking the darkest parts of the road and rushing through the glare of the electric lights like one possessed. It may look as though hie is endeavoring to avoid detection and perfectly excusable theories about bicycle thieres and other outlaws may dash through the theories about bicycle theories other outlaws may dash through the Wells was loth to take the sugges-tion. But it was no use for him to argue. The committee insisted that he must give up his bike. Finally after a session on the subject a compro-mise was agreed upon, and so Wells will no longer ride his picycle in the day time, but will take it out only at night, when he can coast about where nobody can see him and be horrified because he is so undignified as to ride a bike.

A Roaring Farce.

Ye gods! Is this campaign to be turned into a roaring farce? Is George M. Cannon about to place the leader of the Republican ticket before the people as a star comedian? Is the combination of the two young men who have reached the age at which

If Mr. Wells has not sense and manhood enough to assert his right to do anything sensible what will he be if he is put in office? Can Utah afford to have such a character at the head of affairs?

Heber M. Wells has made some share

Heber M. Wells has made some huge mistakes since he entered the cam-paign. The Catholic vote feels that he has insulted the religion they hold. They cannot forgive him for giving applause to an insult to their holiest feelings. They are not intolerant, but they feel that such inexcusable flings as that of Elimer Jones cannot be overlooked and that a man must be made to respect them.

Now, those who love the wheel have a just cause for complaint. They are not prepared to admit that it is undignified for anybody to ride a wheel. They can hardly think Wells' judgment is good. There is a balance lacking.

Eastern Utah Advecate—For the first time in the history of the Democracy of Carbon county a united front is presented to the political foe. The factional feeling, brief but bitter, has passed into onlivion, and from the chaos of spicenrended partisanship has arisen the United Democracy which will, with the mighty broom of Jeffersontan principles, sweep from Utah's newest county the last vestige of Republican dictation, mal-administration and slave diriving methods. Political necessity and the strength of the Republican party in this county demanded Democratic harmony. There appeared to the regular organization but one way by which this might be accomplished. The county convention was called to meet on neutral ground and there in committee and on the floor, was the battle fought and won and like true Democrats the victor and the vanguished shook hands across the stray of the bad, bad batchet and pledged themselves to support with heart and band our party's candidates—John Hood and Wm. ALMOST A MURDER.

H. F. CROY ATTACKS J. G. SHARPE WITH A BUTCHER KNIFE.

Sharpe's Clothes Are Panetured in Three Pinces, But the Deadly Blade Miraculously Falls Short-A Row Among the Cooks of Two Restaurants.

J. G. Sharpe and H. F. Croy, the chefs in Wey's and the Acme restaurants, dished up a lively bill of fare not on the regular menu of either house, and Croy was arrested and locked up charged with assault with a deadly weapon.

It seems from the stories told that there has been bad feeling existing for some time between some of the old cooks and some late importations. Croy and Sharpe both worked at Wey's until, through some misunderstandings Croy was discharged and blamed Sharpe for causing him to lose his job. Since that time, Sharpe says, that every time Croy passed him on the street or met him anywhere he called him vile names and abused him generally. Sharpe is a giant in strength and could easily pick Croy up and make a cross-bar for a telephone pole of him if he felt so disposed, but, as he claims, he "did hot want to pay a fine for slapping a kid."

Last night Sharpe went to the telephone pole.

Last night Sharpe went to the Acme kitchen to ask Croy about some ugly stories that Croy was supposed to have circulated about him. One word drew the next in the heated argument when Croy nicked up a butcher knife, it is Artist Eisele Charged With Asalleged, and made for Sharpe's stomach to disembowel him. The thrust fell a little short and only cut his vest. Another slash cut through the coat sleeve and the third was a savage lunge at the back, which also fell short, only piercing the coat and vest, which were cut clean. Sharpe then went to police headquarters where he told his story and Officer Corey was detailed to find Croy.

When Croy was brought in he asked that a warrant be issued for the arrest of Sharpe, claiming that Sharpe first assaulted him, and also threw a stone into the Acme kitchen which smashed Croy made a few remarks about fighting and his ability as a "scrapper" when Sharpe offered to bet him $20 that he could take him in a back room and beat him to death in just three minutes, but Croy said he did not have that much money with him, but was locked up instead.

Traffic Manager Monroe of the Union Pacific will arrive here from Denver on Monday morning. While no official announcement is made, it is generally believed that the business which brings him here is the controversy over that Southern Pacific rate to Ogden.

This has been a bone of contention between the railroads and the local Jobbers' association ever since it was put in and the Union Pacine and Rio Grande Western early took steps to have the matter adjusted. A conference between representatives of those roads, the Southern Pacine and the Jobbers' association was arranged to be held here on August 31, but it fell through only because the eatsern connections wanted to be represented and insisted that the conference be held at Chicago. This latter proposition was turned down and Mr. Babcock of the Western went to Denver recently to confer with Mr. Monroe, it is presumed. With those gentlemen on the ground, it is to be hoped that this whole difficulty will be amicably adjusted, and in a way that will give Salt Lake what it is entitled to.
